You can have loads of fun playing with water and being water smart at the same time. Check out the picture above and decide if the animals are being water smart or water silly. Then circle the right answer.

1. The meerkats are queuing up to fill their water pistols. They are being water smart / water silly.
2. The baby flamingos have filled a bucket with water and are practicing their diving skills. That's water smart / water silly.
3. The baby gorilla is controlling the tap to help the meerkats fill their water pistols. That is super water smart / water silly.
